

reverence for beloved landscapes as well as intense rage against the de-humanizing forces of excessive development and mechanization.

See More By This Poet