bug’s psalm

By Rodney Koeneke

The bug’s psalm: don’t get crushed.
   Afterlives feel meaningless
   but spring will come,
   push out the nubs
   the kids braid into pallets.
   Take up your pallet
   from lawns noon’s hardly touched.
   The small think gods
   just loll on clouds.
   Bugs think gods just crush.