Corn Maze

By David Barber

Here is where You can get nowhere Faster than ever As you go under Deeper and deeper

In the fertile smother Of another acre Like any other You can't peer over And then another

And everywhere You veer or hare There you are Farther and farther Afield than before

But on you blunder In the verdant meander As if the answer To looking for cover Were to bewilder

Your inner minotaur And near and far were Neither here nor there And where you are Is where you were

Source: Poetry (March 2013)