Domestic Situation

By Ernest Hilbert

Maybe you’ve heard about this. Maybe not.
   A man came home and chucked his girlfriend’s cat
   In the wood chipper. This really happened.
Dinner wasn’t ready on time. A lot
   Of other little things went wrong. He spat
   On her father, who came out when he learned
About it. He also broke her pinky,
   Stole her checks, and got her sister pregnant.
But she stood by him, stood strong, through it all,
Because she loved him. She loved him, you see.
   She actually said that, and then she went
And married him. She felt some unique call.
Don’t try to understand what another
   Person means by love. Don’t even bother.

Source: Sixty Sonnets (Red Hen Press, 2009)