Kitchen Fable

By Eleanor Ross Taylor

The fork lived with the knife
    and found it hard — for years
took nicks and scratches,
    not to mention cuts.

She who took tedium by the ears:
    nonforthcoming pickles,
defiant stretched-out lettuce,
    sauce-gooed particles.

He who came down whack.
His conversation, even, edged.

Lying beside him in the drawer
    she formed a crazy patina.
The seasons stacked — melons, succeeded by cured pork.

He dulled; he was a dull knife,
while she was, after all, a fork.
