Over and Under

By John Brehm

So sexy to slide underneath a river,

to sit inside this snakelike submarine-like subway car and freely imagine
the world above—
the Brooklyn
Bridge invisibly
trembling with the weight of its own beauty,
the East River
still guided by the grooves
Walt Whitman’s
eyes wore in it,
the bulldog tug-
boats pushing the
passively impressive
broad-bottomed
barges around,
and the double-
decker orange and black Staten Island ferries, with their aura of overworked pack-mule mournfulness, and beyond them the Atlantic Ocean which I lately learned was brought here by ice comets three billion years ago, which explains a few things, like why everybody feels so alienated, and of course the thoughts being thought by every person in New York City at this moment—vast schools of undulating fish curving and rising in the cloud-swirling wind-waved sky, surrounded by the vaster emptiness of non-thought
which holds them
and which they try
not to think about and you
lying in bed in your sixth-floor
walk-up sublet
on St. Mark’s Place—
such a breath-
taking ascension!
imagining me
rising now to meet you.
