Twilight

By Rae Armantrout

Where there’s smoke there are mirrors and a dry ice machine, industrial quality fans.

If I’ve learned anything about the present moment

•

But who doesn’t love a flame, the way one leaps into being full-fledged, then leans over to chat

•

Already the light is retrospective, sourceless, is losing itself though the trees are clearly limned.